

What programme for the next Commission (2009-2013)?

21-26 September 2009

At the end of September, a new Commission President will have been appointed by EU leaders and approved by the European Parliament.

By that time, he (or she) will be busy putting together its team, distributing portfolios among the Commissioners selected by each of the 27 EU member states.

What will be the programme of the next Commission? How different will the post-2010 Lisbon Agenda for growth be from the current one? What are the member states' positions on key policy issues for the next five years? And what role will stakeholders' play in shaping the agenda of the next Commission?

These will be among the topics addressed in this Special Week coverage.
